"Indiana, Be In a State of Progress."

At the Indiana Department of Commerce, it's more than just our slogan—it's our attitude. Every day our team works to make our state an even better place to live, work and raise a family—and you can be a part of that.

Whether you're interested in a career in technology, advanced manufacturing, e-business, business development, community development, agriculture, tourism, international trade, energy policy, housing or finance, public service offers some of the most challenging and important opportunities available.

Hoosiers know they can rely on a strong group of dedicated, hard-working professionals throughout state government and at the Indiana Department of Commerce to get the job done—and we do. We are committed to making a positive difference in the life of every Indiana resident and every employee.

I am proud of our team at Commerce and invite you to explore the many exciting career options within our state agency.

Sincerely,

What do you want to become?

The Indiana Department of Commerce has positions that match many private-sector jobs. These range from information technology professionals and researchers to administrative assistants and engineers.

But the Department offers an advantage the private sector can't match. By working at the Department of Commerce, you can advance both within Commerce and through opportunities in more than 50 other state agencies. This means you can change your career goals and job track without losing your investment of time and hard work.

Few private-sector companies can offer you the wide range of choices and opportunities that you'll find in state government. At the Department of Commerce, the sky's the limit.

Don't just work.
Work to make a difference.

The Indiana Department of Commerce is the place to be when you want to build a career or develop a lifetime of opportunities.

But we also offer something more: the chance to make a real difference in the lives of Indiana citizens.

The Department of Commerce reaches all across the state. Whether you're helping attract a new company, generating international trade or marketing Indiana to tourists, as part of the Department of Commerce you'll create jobs, support families and improve the life of every Indiana resident.

Take a look at the Indiana Department of Commerce. You'll find benefits, balance, work, opportunities and rewards that no other organization offers.
